PROJECT: Universal Trading Platform (UTP)

SmartPool to migrate to the Universal Trading Platform on Monday 23 November 2009

As previously confirmed, SmartPool will migrate from NSC to the Universal Trading Platform on Monday 23 November 2009. Effective this date, SmartPool is only available via the Universal Trading Platform through the new protocols UTP-Direct and FIX 4.2.

External User Acceptance (EUA) Test Platform

Please note the following points concerning the EUA test platform:

- The UTP SmartPool EUA test platform has been available for conformance testing since 26 October 2009.
- The EUA test platform is only accessible via UTP-Direct and FIX 4.2.
- The securities available for testing on the EUA test platform and UTP specifications and guides are available via the following link <http://www.tradeonsmartpool.com/DocumentLibrary/>.
- The SPL codes on the test securities list are unique to the EUA test platform.

Pre-requisites for go-live

1. In advance of the migration to the production environment, please contact the UTP support desk to arrange a mandatory conformance test session.
2. Please confirm your session configuration by Friday 13 November. Unless notified, the default will be set to the current session used to trade on SmartPool.

Monday 23 November 2009

Please note the following points concerning the production environment:

- The business day will start as usual.
- Please complete any system readiness checks in advance of the market open at 09:00CET.
- SmartPool securities will only be available for trading in the UTP production environment from this date.
